Tips for setting up your website and fundraising

Though our pages are prepopulated with some key phrases and verbiage, make sure you make this page your own. Your story will speak to your friends, family, and other key donors.

Consider those close to you and make a list of people or organizations that are likely to donate to your campaign. Keep up with that list as donors make contributions, so you know who to ask with your follow up communications. Call out a thank you to those who make donations!

For your larger donors, make personalized asks. Make sure they know that they are special to you.

Don't only share on social media. It is a great way to reach a large audience who may not be on your list, but make sure you reach out to your list personally.

Plan your asks at different times. People tend to give around payday so look at the pay periods – Fridays, 1st, 15th, and last day of the month.

- Personalize
- Share
 - Email
 - Social Media
 - Letters to those donors who are unlikely to be online

If you would like to challenge others to compete or join you in your efforts

I'm reaching out with a personal challenge—and an opportunity to make a real impact.

This year, I've taken on the role of a Luminary of the Year Champion Candidate for the Brain Injury Association of America – Texas Chapter. It's more than a title—it's a commitment to raising awareness, support, and critical funds for the millions of people who will experience a TBI in their lifetime.

Now, I'm challenging you to join me.

As a Champion Candidate, you'll:

- Be recognized on BIAA - TX's platforms and in THE Challenge! Magazine
- Receive a dedicated social media spotlight
- Attend the inspiring Luminary of the Year event in Houston.
- Help illuminate the path forward for individuals and families affected by brain injury

Whether you have a personal connection to this cause or simply want to be part of something meaningful, this is your moment to step up and shine.

I believe in your leadership, your heart, and your ability to make a difference. Will you accept the challenge and become a Champion Candidate?

Let's do this together.

If you would just like to support my efforts, please visit my personal fundraising page [insert link] to make a donation.
